ETFs on a platform – The ultimate combination of simplicity, functionality and efficiency

Upon the new product offer, current and future clients of ifsam will benefit from a single point of access to the whole investment fund spectrum. Clients will have the ability to utilise the existing operational ecosystem from dealing 2 custody, as well as reporting and research along the entire ETF lifecycle. ifsam acts as the intermediary bridging the gaps between the issuer, the market and investors.

The launch of an expanded ETF service means that clients will be provided with additional services in respect of execution, reporting, information and research on ETFs. As with the existing offering, the enhanced ETF offering will provide a single counterpart, with an automated trading solution. Naturally, this will be supported by our client service team assisting all services from transaction reporting to corporate actions.

“The new ETF service is fully aligned with the latest regulatory requirements, which ensures best execution capabilities”, ifsam mentioned.

In today's landscape within the fund industry, having access to a complete product offering and single one-stop solution to all types of investment funds is a priority for all investors. As the industry continuously evolves, investor participation in passive products is becoming more and more apparent.
